MAYOR IS INSULTED BY RUSSIA COMMENT

Carterton accused of bullying Brize Norton in housing fight

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE mayor of Carterton reacted angrily to a comparison of the town as Russia bullying a weaker Brize Norton village, as Ukraine.

Brize Norton Parish Council and the village's action group likened the two areas to the conflict between the eastern European countries in a booklet compiled against house building in their village.

Carterton mayor Lynn Little wrote to the town's residents last week after 'Brize Norton - A village community under threat' was published earlier this month.

Comparing Carterton's encroachment of Brize Norton through housing developments, the booklet states: "Think of Carterton as Russia and Brize as Ukraine and you get the idea."

It comes as housing developers Bloor Homes seek outline planning permission from West Oxfordshire District Council to build around 700 homes on land south of Burford Road between Carterton and Brize Norton.

Cllr Little said: "To liken us to Russia and the Ukraine I think was a very crass thing to do, and I don't accept their comments."

"We have to look at everything that is going on around us and obviously react to it, but the way Brize Norton has portrayed us in that publication is unacceptable."

"This is a wonderful town, but to have that response in a publication is absolutely outrageous."

Keith Beckingham, a founder of Brize Norton Action Group, said: "It wasn't meant in that way, but it did make some humorous reading."

"You can make these things so boring and people never read them. What it's proving is people are reading it, but we never intended to upset anybody."

"We would enjoy co-operation from Carterton Town Council because they have consistently opposed the houses to the east, and we're grateful we're all singing from the same song sheet."

SODC leader Ann was 'a great leading lady'

TRIBUTES have flooded in for Ann Ducker, leader of South Oxfordshire District Council, after her death was announced this week.

Mrs Ducker, 71, who lived at South Stoke Farm, near Wallingford, was suffering with cancer for most of this year and died on Sunday, September 21.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

She became leader in 2003 and had been a district councillor for 31 years after being elected to office in 1983 as the ward member for Goring.

A family statement described her as "a great leading lady" and a "dependable, honourable much loved character within the South Oxfordshire community".

It continued: "She had a great gift to be able to work with a diverse group of people and make things happen."

"Ann leaves a big hole where she will be greatly missed by friends, colleagues, and family."

"What we hope as a family is that her legacy and legend of hard work ethic of doing work for the community for greater good lives on."

"She was also a wonderful mother and grandmother."

Ann Midwinter, chairman of SODC, said Mrs Ducker's death "brings huge sadness" and she will be "sorely missed".

David Buckle, chief executive of SODC, said it is a "very sad day" and described Mrs Ducker as a "central figure".

He continued: "When Ann spoke everyone listened because they knew that what she would say would make perfect sense."

During her time as leader she oversaw the introduction of wheeled bins in South Oxfordshire and a joint working partnership with Vale of White Horse District Council.

Vale leader Matthew Barber said: "It is a huge loss to both the council and I am sure the community both in Goring and also the wider district of South Oxfordshire."

"She was a lovely, friendly and warm person and we got on at a personal level as well as professionally."

In 2008, Mrs Ducker was on a shortlist to replace London Mayor Boris Johnson as MP for Henley, narrowly losing out to John Howell.

She received an MBE for her services to local government in 2010.

Bernard Stone, Wallingford town councillor and former mayor, said Mrs Ducker's death resembled an "end of an era" for the area.

He added: "It will be a very sad loss to the district."

"She was determined to do the best she could for the district and was an impressive lady."

Mrs Ducker was also the portfolio holder for Didcot, and town council leader Eleanor Hards said: "She has just been so important for the district."

"Even those of us who did not agree with her policy views admired her."

Barry Norton, leader of West Oxfordshire District Council, added: "Ann had a remarkable ability to quickly focus on the real issues and she always displayed a heartfelt enthusiasm in serving South Oxfordshire and its residents."

"I shall miss her wise counsel very much indeed."

Despair for residents as pipe bursts again

RESIDENTS of around 50 homes in east Oxford have been forced out of their homes after a burst water main caused severe flooding.

Fire crews were called to Normandy Crescent shortly after 5am on Tuesday after the Thames Water main burst, which left the road knee-deep in flood water.

Of the homes affected, 23 have been left with severe water damage, while others were cut off because of flood waters outside their property.

A rest centre for residents was opened at Blackbird Leys Leisure Centre that morning, offering clothing, food and support to those affected.

It comes seven years after residents of the same street were evacuated after the water main burst, with a 1.5m high flood affecting 30 homes.

Andrew Smith, MP for Oxford

East, said: "It's unbelievable that the same main bursts in nearly the same place as seven years ago - Thames Water has big questions to answer."

"Thanks to the emergency services and council staff for their help to the residents."

Becky Trotman, spokesperson for Thames Water, said: "Our support vehicle and members of our team are in Normandy Crescent answering residents' questions and providing support."

"The ongoing needs of the people who have been unable to move back into their homes and finding them appropriate accommodation remains our number one priority."

"Each set of circumstances is different so we need to treat each household individually to make sure we cater for their specific needs."

"The pipe will be taken away for analysis so we can investigate the cause of the burst."

Ms Trotman added that Thames Water was helping residents of the 23 severely damaged homes find medium-term accommodation, and that an investigation has been launched, although it could take "a number of weeks" to complete.

Smartwater

SOUTH AND VALE: Thames Valley Police is encouraging residents to use marking fluid Smartwater following burglaries in the districts.

A number of recent thefts of power tools and machinery from sheds and garages have been reported and officers are urging residents to sign-up to Smartwater to protect their property.

The liquid, which glows green under UV light, can be painted onto items and checked if stolen and later seized by police.

For more information visit smartwater.tv.

Pair charged

DIDCOT: A man and woman have been charged after stealing alcohol and meat from the Tesco superstore in Cockcroft Road on September 16.

Daniel Webb, 31, and Sally Ann Taylor, 37, were arrested and charged by police officers on the same day.

They have been remanded and are due to appear at Oxford Magistrates Court on December 10.

Cat drowned

ABINGDON: The RSPCA is appealing for information after a six-month-old cat was found drowned off Lambrick Way last Wednesday.

A member of the public fished out a cat box from the nearby fishing lake and discovered the dead animal inside, wrapped in two towels.

RSPCA inspector Rachel Smith said: "It was a shocking, macabre sight. We think this poor cat was probably alive when submerged in the water."

"Drowning is a horrible way to die, causing much suffering. He was only a tiny little thing too, just six months old."

Anyone with information is asked to contact the charity on 0300 1234 999.

Community planting day to brighten up town estate

DAFFODILS are set to sprout up in Witney next spring, following a community planting day at the town's Cogges estate on October 4.

Residents and volunteers are being sought to plant 1,000 bulbs along the grass verge at the corner of Manor Road and Cogges Hill Road from 10am to 2pm.

By Adam Flinn

It follows The Cogges Big Lunch - a project to get neighbours to share a meal together - in June, and the planting of the estate's first community apple tree.

This project has been organised by Manor Road resident

Richard MacKenzie, who said: "It's important to me to find ways of bringing the community together.

"Creating opportunities for people to meet other people who live here can only enhance community life for everyone.

"By getting involved in the planting it gives people ownership and then they'll be reminded of this every spring when the daffodils flower.

"As we have so many bulbs it will look really striking, particularly as they'll be bordering the main access road into the estate."

West Oxfordshire District Council, which owns the land, has donated the bulbs as part of efforts to enhance the local area.

David Harvey, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "We're supporting this project as it is a good example of a community working together to bring about improvements, and will enhance the local environment.

"We look forward to seeing the daffodils in bloom, spreading some spring cheer."

The council will also be selling compost bins at a discounted price of £10 during the event, as well as handing out free food recycling caddy liners.

Refreshments will also be served during the day.

For more information about taking part, contact Richard on 01993 772775 or email hellori-chardmackenzie@gmail.com.

Bloom award

WITNEY: The Witney in Bloom group was awarded a Silver Gilt Certificate last Wednesday for their entry into the Thames and Chilterns district Royal Horticultural Society awards.

It comes after the group, which is made up of community gardeners and Witney Town Council's team and contractors, won a silver award in last year's competition.

Funding vote

WEST OXON: Four projects in West Oxfordshire have been nominated to receive funding of up to £3,000 from the Lloyds Bank Community Fund.

Whichever project out of Ducklington Sports Club, Oxfordshire West Food Bank, Stanton Harcourt Action for Play Equipment and The Besom in Witney receives the most votes will secure the top award.

Grants of £2,000, £1,000 and £500 are available to the other three.

For more information, visit websitecommunityfund.lloyds-bank.com.

Strutt chosen

WEST OXON: UKIP have chosen Simon Strutt as their candidate to go up against Witney MP and Prime Minister David Cameron in next year's general elections.

Mr Strutt, from Brackley in Northamptonshire, stood as UKIP's ninth candidate of 10 for the South East England region in this year's European elections.

Labour's Duncan Enright has also been chosen to contest the seat, as has Dr Clive Peedell of the National Health Action Party.

Views sought after recycling bank waste build-up

• Waste left at Woodford Way car park in Witney

WEST Oxfordshire District Council is seeking the views of residents on recycling bank sites in a bid to tackle recent incidents of fly-tipping in the area.

Currently large amounts of non-recyclable material, including bulky items like televisions, are being dumped next to the recycling containers.

Council officers will be visiting four sites in October to speak with residents about how they use the banks, and ask for suggestions of how they could be improved.

David Harvey, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "We want to encourage recycling and we are doing all we can to provide good facilities.

"But persistent fly-tipping and inappropriate usage by some people is making them difficult and hazardous for others to use, as well as being extremely unsightly."

He continued: "We are receiving a number of complaints about the recycling with residents calling on us to take action, so we are very keen to hear their views."

Surveys will be carried out at the Co-op car park site in Carterton, New Street car park in Chipping Norton, and at Sainsbury's and Woodford Way car parks in Witney.

Spate of sex crimes in city over three days

POLICE are investigating two rapes and two sexual assaults in Oxford between Saturday and Monday.

In the early hours of Saturday morning, an 18-year-old girl was raped in Brewer Street by a man she had met in a nightclub earlier that evening.

A second woman was raped in a flat on Roosevelt Drive, Headington, after a man followed her inside the building.

And another woman was sexually assaulted in South Park on Sunday, in an incident believed to be linked to the rape in Roosevelt Drive. The other rape is understood not to be connected.

A 41-year-old man of no fixed abode was charged on suspicion of the sexual assault and Roosevelt Drive rape on Tuesday.

He was also charged for a burglary in Morrell Avenue in Oxford that took place last Thursday, and for an incident which occurred at Abingdon police station following his arrest.

The man appeared at Oxford

Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, where he was remanded in custody to appear at Oxford Crown Court on October 3.

A 21-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of the Brewer Street rape on Saturday.

In a separate incident, police are appealing for witnesses after a 22-year-old woman was inappropriately touched outside the Odeon cinema in George Street on Monday morning.

It took place between 8.50am and 9am, with the offender described as white, about 6ft tall of average build, with short brown hair. He was wearing a white hooded jumper.

Superintendent Christian Bunt, local policing area commander for Oxford, said: "Extra high-visibility patrols are continuing in the area and detectives are in the process of investigating these incidents."

"Reports of this nature are taken seriously and anyone with any information which could assist with the police investigation is encouraged to speak to an officer."

The news comes after a woman was raped in Drayton, near Abingdon, on September 5. No arrests have yet been made.

Anyone with information on any of the offences is asked to call police on 101.

Force 'won't lose 400 officers'

THAMES Valley Police's chief constable Sara Thornton says the force will not lose 400 officers despite claims made by its Police and Crime Commissioner Anthony Stansfeld.

Mr Stansfeld told the Daily Telegraph last Sunday that government cuts will result in the loss of 400 officers.

However, on Tuesday, Ms Thornton denied Thames Valley Police would be forced to lose that many officers in an attempt to save £20million for the force.

"While I agree that the prospects for the next spending review are bleak, may I reassure the public that we are not poised to lose 400 officers," she said.

Mr Stansfeld said every £1m lost equates to around 20 police officers and out of 4,000 currently in the force, 10 per cent would be on course to lose their jobs.

Ms Thornton added: "We need to find another £20million of cuts by 2018 but I and the Police and Crime Commissioner will be doing everything we can to find those cuts elsewhere and maintain police officer numbers as much as possible."

She continued: "Over many years I have worked with my senior colleagues to minimise the impact of budget cuts on police officer numbers and therefore on the safety and security of the people of Thames Valley."

Hope for foal after recovery

• Hope the horse, who made a miraculous recovery since being found in April this year

News Bites

Hospital walk

OXFORD: A five-mile walk raising money for the city's hospitals gets underway in Headington on October 5.

Walkers can fundraise for whichever ward, department or hospital they choose for the stroll, which begins at the John Radcliffe Hospital and goes past the Nuffield Orthopaedic and Warneford sites.

It costs £5 to enter. For more details, go to hospitalcharity.co.uk/walk.

Kennard lecture

OXFORD: A lecture by photo-montage artist Peter Kennard is being held at Oxford Brookes University on Saturday.

It forms part of the ongoing Photography Oxford exhibition, which is running at venues across the city until October 5.

"The talk will show how and why I rip photographs out of their context to bring the perpetrators of war and poverty slap bang into the same space as their victims," said Peter.

The lecture starts at 6pm. For details or to book a place, go to brookes.ac.uk.

Money stolen

BICESTER: Police are investigating reports of a burglary that took place in Churchill Road earlier this month.

Money and travellers cheques were stolen from the property between September 8 and 12, after thieves broke in through the rear patio doors.

Anyone with information about the burglary is asked to contact Bicester police station via the police 101 number.

A FOAL found collapsed in a field near Oxford on the "brink of death" has since made a miraculous recovery and is now looking for a new home.

Hope, a dark bay thoroughbred type filly, was just four and a half months old when she was found covered in lice and with an eye injury in a field in Stanton St John back in April.

She was extremely weak and starving, and also had a leg injury that may have been caused by being trodden on by another horse.

But after being found by the RSPCA, Hope has recovered from her ordeal and the charity is now attempting to rehome her.

"If ever a horse lived up to her name, it is Hope," said RSCPA inspector Kirsty Withnall.

"At first we thought there was no hope as she was in such a terrible way - it really looked like she was on the brink of death, and we didn't think she would make it.

"Now it is like looking at a different horse. She will always bear the scars of her difficult beginnings, but that makes her all the more beautiful in my eyes."

Hope was taken to the RSPCA's Southridge Animal Centre in Hertfordshire after being found, where she has been cared for ever since.

She has been left with an injury on her leg, but is not in any pain and can still move around.

Centre manager Anna White said: "Little Hope has come on leaps and bounds since she came to us and would make someone such a wonderful companion.

"Our specialist equine vet said she can never be a working horse because of what she has been through, but that doesn't mean she can't bring an awful lot of joy to whoever takes her on.

"She has come such a long way already, and I really long to see her with a proper happy ending and a loving new home."

Anyone interested in rehoming Hope is asked to call the Southridge Animal Centre in Potter's Bar on 0300 123 0704.

Munitions found in Bicester destroyed

CONTROLLED explosions were carried out by police in Bicester last Thursday after munitions were found at a house in Buckingham Crescent.

Munitions dating back to the First and Second World Wars were found following information received from police warrants that were executed in Hertfordshire the previous day.

A 35-year-old man from Bicester was arrested on suspicion of theft from her-itage and protected sites, and is currently in police custody.

As a precaution, some residents were evacuated while the explosions took place.

Mark Harrison, national policing and crime advisor for English Heritage, said: "The practice of illegal metal detecting or stealing artefacts from the ground is an issue that English Heritage takes very seriously.

"We recognise that the majority of the metal detecting community comply with the laws and regulations relating to the discovery and recovery of objects from the land. We are prepared to take action and do what is necessary."

Solar panel project launches in Oxford

A COMMUNITY project which is installing solar panels on 18 schools across Oxfordshire launched its share offer on Tuesday.

The Low Carbon Hub is funding renewable energy projects throughout the county, with money coming from investors who get a financial return through the power generated.

It was officially launched at Larkrise Primary School in east Oxford, which had 78 solar panels installed on its roof over the summer holidays.

And the panels are estimated to save the school 25 per cent on

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

its electricity bills every year – equivalent to employing a teaching assistant.

"What was great about the hub's offer is they do the fund-raising and installation costs and all we do is get cheaper power and produce less carbon," said Ed Finch, teacher at Larkrise.

"We pay less and we're able to learn more about being responsible citizens, so it was an easy decision to make.

"With the children in the computer room we can look at how much electricity we're generating, so talking about responsible energy use I can make it real and base it on our usage and production."

Following on from their launch, the Low Carbon Hub is now recruiting schools and businesses for next year, with 37 having already expressed an interest.

The hub's CEO Barbara Hammond said that schools have given them a positive reaction to the scheme so far.

She said: "The reaction we generally get is that schools have been thinking about solar panels for years and years, but they've never had the people who can spend the time to do it.

"The thought of finding the money for the panels is really daunting as well, so working with us is a way of doing it that saves them money on their energy bills and they don't have to risk any money up front."

Speaking about the importance of renewable energy projects, Barbara added: "We're trying to get people mobilised to make the big energy shift happen, because we don't think it will without getting everybody involved.

"We are really trying to bring benefits down to the local level, and to get people understanding much more about their energy system than they currently do at the moment."

Boy beats robber

OXFORD: An 11-year-old boy managed to fend off an attempted robbery by a teenager in Cowley last Thursday.

The boy was walking along Hollow Way at around 3.30pm when the robber, believed to be 16 or 17-years-old, grabbed the victim in an attempt to steal from him.

But the robber was unsuccessful, and ran off afterwards.

He was described as a white man of skinny build, with long ginger hair and freckles on his face. He wore a black hooded jacket and blue jeans.

Anyone with information about the incident is asked to contact PC Paul Jones from St Aldate's police station on 101.

Lengthy sentences given to heroin and cocaine dealers

TWO drug dealers have been jailed for over 11 years after being found with copious amounts of heroin and cocaine in Oxford.

Callum Spencer, 22, from Wynbush Road, Rose Hill, and Yusto Otunnu, 32, from Hastoe Grange, Headington, were sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on September 19.

Spencer pleaded guilty to one count of possession with intent to supply heroin and one count of possession with intent to supply cocaine and was jailed for four years.

Otunnu pleaded guilty to one count of possession with intent to supply heroin and one count of possession with intent to supply cocaine and sentenced to seven and a half years.

They were arrested on July 17 near the Green Road roundabout, Headington.

Spencer had around £10,000 of drugs in his pocket, in his car and at an address in Blackbird Leys as well as £1,400 cash.

Otunnu had 1.2 kilos of class A drugs in the boot of his car, worth around £80,000, and £2,500 in cash.

Investigating officer Sgt James Blackmore said: "I am pleased with the sentences handed down to Spencer and Otunnu, which mean two more drug dealers have been removed from the communities in Oxford.

"I trust the outcome of this case shows other drug dealers that we are dedicated to removing them from the streets and locking them up for a long time."

Oxfordshire is 'a safer place' after campaign

FIRE crews in Oxfordshire have saved 386 lives and the economy more than £134million, according to figures published by the county council on Monday.

As part of its 365alive campaign, Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue set out to reduce the number of deaths from fires and road collisions, cut the cost of accidents, and educate 840,000 people to make them safer.

Fire fighters were given 10 years to save the economy £100million and prevent 365 people from losing their lives when it launched in 2006.

And the latest figures, updated to the start of April 2014, have shown the service has achieved its target two years ahead of schedule.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

David Etheridge, chief fire officer for Oxfordshire, said: "365alive was hatched with the intention to help make Oxfordshire a safer place.

"I am delighted that all of the hard work put in by everybody from the service, the county council and partners has paid off to such an extent that we have reached our targets two years early.

"We have now set even more challenging targets to meet in the next two years and we are looking forward to working with the community to make the county even more safe."

Figures were based on the reductions in fires and road accidents in the county year-on-year, and the associated potential loss of life and monetary costs.

Rodney Rose, deputy leader of Oxfordshire County Council with responsibility for the fire service, said: "Local people really do have one of the very best fire and rescue services at their disposal.

"That is evidenced by the delivery of the 365alive targets two years ahead of schedule, which is a fantastic achievement by everybody who has been involved.

"The cost of providing the fire and rescue service across Oxfordshire is around 11p per day for each resident - which I am sure that most people will agree is excellent value for money."

Office demolition plans get the go ahead from committee

PLANS to knock down offices in Abingdon's town centre and replace them with housing were approved by Vale of White Horse District Council's planning committee at a meeting last Wednesday, September 17.

New Abbey Court will be demolished to make room for two three-storey buildings, comprising nine flats, four houses and a maisonette.

Objections had been submitted to the council about the look of the buildings, and that they wouldn't be in keeping with the character of the area.

But Robert Sharp, chairman of the planning committee, said that the plans had been amended and they were satisfied with the changes.

He said: "We couldn't see any reason for not going ahead and approving it."

"They came up with changes to the facade onto Stert Street that made it more acceptable to the committee, and I'm pretty certain it was a unanimous decision in the end.

"I can understand that some people were concerned about the harm to the conservation area but English Heritage hasn't objected to it, so we had to bear those sorts of things in mind."

Uni's dead heat

OXFORD: The universities of Oxford and Cambridge have come joint top in The Times' Good University Guide – the first ever dead heat between the two.

Oxford ranked highly on student satisfaction and graduate job prospects, as well as having an average spend on facilities of £3,506 per student.

It was a jump of one place for Oxford, who were ranked second to Cambridge in last year's guide.

BAFTA student

OXFORD: A student from Oxford has become the first recipient of a British Academy of Film and Television Arts (BAFTA) scholarship.

Tian Macleod Ji was awarded a scholarship to study a Master of Fine Arts in Creative Media at City University of Hong Kong.

The 22-year-old will get a £9,300 scholarship for course fees, and a £10,000 bursary.

Home burgled

BICESTER: Jewellery, a laptop and a camera were stolen from a house in Turnberry Close on September 16.

Between 8.40am and 2.30pm, thieves smashed a rear patio door to get into the property, before taking the items.

Police believe one of the offenders ran off down Boston Road.

First OxfordOxford festival is cancelled

THE first OxfordOxford festival has been cancelled due to poor ticket sales.

Rave pop band Klaxons and RnB artist Katy B were headlining the three-day film, music and community event, due to start tomorrow, September 26.

But a statement posted on the festival's website declared the South Park event cancelled, with organisers Eleven 11 events promising refunds for ticket holders.

The events company said OxfordOxford was cancelled with "great sadness" and they

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

had "worked tirelessly" to organise the festival.

A statement read: "It is with great sadness that we have to cancel the inaugural OxfordOxford."

It added: "A number of factors in September, including an uncertainty with a previously confirmed artist, alongside poor local ticket sales, have forced this decision."

"The whole team, including partners, has tirelessly worked around the clock to try to make the event work, but unfortunately we are not in the position to continue any further."

Tomorrow was planned to be the film day of the event, with Dirty Dancing, Grease and Top Gun among several movies to be shown on a big screen from Middy.

On Saturday, Klaxons and Katy B were set to be joined by Oxfordshire-based Flight of Helios, Balloon Ascents and Robot Swans.

Gaz Coombes, the former lead singer of alternative rock band Supergrass, was also set to take to the stage.

Sunday, the third and final day of the festival, had been aimed at the community with local groups and organisations taking over the Headington Hill park.

The statement continued: "All of the artists and their teams have been amazing throughout, and we are hugely disappointed that we are unable to give them their shows."

"Contractors, ticket vendors, concessions, community groups, clubs and charities who have been involved since its inception have also been fantastic."

Landmark moment for Mini

EVERYONE in Oxfordshire can be proud the three millionth Mini rolled off the Cowley production line this month.

It is an enormous achievement by the workforce, which with BMW's £750million investment has made ours one of the most successful car plants in the world.

It is the birthplace of Mini production and residents rightly regard the Mini as their own.

Oxford remains very much at the forefront of car manufacturing, and almost two thirds of Minis produced were built here last year, with each requiring over 4,000 parts and more than 200 assembly checks.

It is fantastic to see 13 years after its relaunch by BMW, and 11 since the first time Mini was awarded Car of the Year, it is now again Car of the Year with the latest range.

The car and the workers who produce it are making a huge contribution to Britain's balance of payments, with 80 per cent of production now being exported to 114 countries as far afield as Angola, Vietnam and Sri Lanka.

The Mini retains a special magic.

It is striking that it is one of first cars small children recognise, attracting a stare and a smile when you drive it.

Long may this success continue.

I welcome BMW's assurance that Oxford will remain the "home and heart" of Mini production for years to come.

We look forward to the next three million, and all this truly great car means for jobs, prosperity and the standing of Oxford in the world.

Hostel blaze

OXFORD: Fire crews were called to an Oxford hostel last Friday after a blaze in its laundry room.

Firefighters attended the Backpackers Youth Hostel in Hythe Bridge Street at around 5pm, and managed to keep the fire contained within the room. No-one was injured.

Support group

OXFORD: A support group for people suffering with the lung condition idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis has been set up by Oxford University Hospital NHS Trust.

The Oxford Pulmonary Fibrosis Support Group will allow patients to meet with others in a similar situation and discuss their illness.

Meetings will be held every other month, the first of which will be at the Churchill Hospital next Tuesday at 4pm.

'One of the best'

OXON: Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust has been named as one of the best places to work within the health service.

The Health Service Journal said that employees in the trust reported good communication and effective team working within the organisation.

Mark Power from the trust said: "We will continue to invest in order to ensure our continued success."

Five guilty after £24m of drugs seized by police

A FIFTH man involved in a conspiracy to supply heroin and cocaine with a street value of about £24million in Oxford has been found guilty at the city's crown court.

Shorne Ross, 41, of Mumford Drive in Northampton, was convicted on Tuesday.

Four other men - including two from Oxfordshire - pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to supply class A drugs in January and February this year.

A total of 14kg of cocaine and 7kg of heroin was seized from a vehicle on the M40 near High Wycombe, a lorry in Dover, and

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

during searches of houses in Woodstock and Oxford on March 10.

Also found was more than £50,000 in cash, a hydraulic press and various drug paraphernalia.

All five men were arrested on March 10 and 11.

David Bowen, 42, also of Mumford Drive; Martin Gray, 32, of Randolph Avenue in Woodstock; and Yemi Aiyegbusi, 35, of Walton Street in Oxford, pleaded guilty to the charges on July 24.

Hakan Razaiki, 42, from Aandijk in the Netherlands, pleaded guilty on September 5.

Detective inspector Rachel Turner said: "The Thames Valley Police Serious Organised Crime Unit (SOCU) has investigated this group who were concerned with supplying cocaine and heroin in the Oxford area."

"I would like to thank all the police officers involved in bringing this difficult and complex case to this conclusion."

"We are pleased that we have been able to disrupt the supply of drugs in the Oxford area and bring these men to justice."

Oxford's local policing area commander, superintendent Christian Bunt, added: "This was a lengthy and complex operation from across the Thames Valley and other forces."

"All of this has led to the successful conviction of these men and the dismantling of their drug supply network across the Oxford area."

"All of which should make Oxford and its surroundings a safer place to be."

The five men will be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court at a date to be confirmed.

Get counting penguins!

VOLUNTEERS are being sought to help with an Oxford University project to classify more than 200,000 pictures of penguin families in Antarctica.

Penguin Watch launched last week and lets people look at the images taken by remote cameras monitoring more than 30 colonies around the Southern Ocean.

Researchers believe that the populations of many species of penguin, such as chinstrap and Adélie, are declining as shrinking sea ice threatens krill - the birds' main food source.

And the university is hoping volunteers will help tag the adults, chicks and eggs in the pictures to give scientists a better understanding of penguin behaviour and breeding success.

"Most penguin colonies are so remote and the environment is so hostile that the most practical way to study them is to leave something recording for us," said Dr Tom Hart, who is leading the Penguin Watch project.

Caitlin Black of the project added: "Counting penguins in images enables our team to learn more about penguin behaviours."

"Every penguin people tag in these images will help us to extract vital information about the birds' winter activity, the impact of predators, and the timing of breeding."

To find out more or take part in the project, go to the website: penguinwatch.org.

Business competition with £25,000 prize pot

Business Matters

Guest columnist: David Knowles Leak

Business boost success story

IN THIS month's guest column, FSB Thames Valley Regional Chair, David Knowles Leak, on trade local:

The second Thames Valley FSB Keep Trade Local challenge has ended. And what a way to end.

People across the region have been busy spending locally and entering the Federation of Small Businesses competition which was set up to encourage people to use local businesses.

The final count on the totaliser was an outstanding £257,897.11 invested in independent businesses.

With £1.76 going back into the local economy for every £1 spent, that is a staggering £453,898.91 and counting that has helped to boost local economies.

With the backing of the majority of Thames Valley

MPs and support across the region from newspapers and local radio, the FSB has managed to raise the profile of why it is important to Keep Trade Local and the impact that people can have when they do spend locally.

The campaign celebrates independent small businesses on and off the high street and encourages local and central government to help small business survive and flourish.

The importance of local trade in respect of creating and maintaining sustainable communities cannot be underestimated.

SMEs are substantially the most important drivers of jobs in the private sector, and looking after your local businesses and encouraging them to thrive a big part of the employment infrastructure of our communities.

BUDDING entrepreneurs in Vale of White Horse have an opportunity to make their business dream a reality with the launch of a new competition.

Spark Vale's Business Idea competition will give the winners over £25,000 in business support services.

Leader of Vale of White Horse District Council, Matthew Barber, said: "The Vale is a real hot bed for innovation and enterprise."

"This competition will help to ensure small businesses with big ideas are given the opportunity and resources to develop and thrive."

Launched by competition judges at Harwell Innovation Centre, where free office accommodation will be donated for the prize, the competition will see entrepreneurs compete in three categories: best business growth idea, best new business idea for under 25s, and the best new business idea for over 25s.

The competition is open to anyone who lives or has a business interest in the Vale, of whether dreaming of starting-up or already up and running.

Judges will create a long list of nine entrants to get coaching by Oxford Innovation to help them develop business plans.

Six finalists will be announced ahead of a Dragons' Den style final in November.

Judge and ByBox CEO Stuart Miller said: "We are delighted to be involved in the Spark initiative that goes to extra lengths to really make a difference to the Vale's up and coming entrepreneurs."

Oxford Innovation business support director Rachel Panther said: "We encourage anyone thinking of starting a business, planning a growth step with an existing business, or in need of some business advice to engage with Spark right now."

The prize pot has been donated by Vale businesses including start-up accountancy firm, Inca, Artisan Intelligent Print Solutions, Collier IP, Focus Oxford LLP, Bluestream Recruitment, Vale4Business, ByBox and Oxford Innovation.

Apply before October 19 at sparkvale.co.uk to enter.

Milestone for Oxfordshire's railways: one year countdown

THERE is one year to go until Chiltern Railways opens its new Oxford to London line.

The launch will be the first new rail link between a major British city and London in over 100 years and will benefit thousands of commuters from Oxfordshire.

The groundbreaking £130million project will see the train operator running services between London Marylebone and Oxford Parkway - a new station being built to the north of the city, from September next year.

And the trains will run from the centre of Oxford from spring 2016.

The work brings Chiltern's total investment in the line to £600m since the start of their franchise.

Chiltern Railways MD, Rob Brighthouse, said: "We are staunch believers in the contribution rail travel can make to economic growth and prosperity."

A draft timetable of the trips has been published.

Residents can give their views or suggest changes until November 7.

Go to chilternrailways.co.uk/news/september-2015-timetable-consultation to see the timetable and comment.

Back on the road

HUSBAND and wife team Paul Daniels and Debbie McGee will be using their magic touch and slick skills as they make their way to the Chipping Norton Theatre on October 4.

The couple, who got married in Buckinghamshire 26 years ago, will be travelling all over the country as part of their autumn tour, 'Back Despite Popular Demand!'.

The show promises an evening of family entertainment, with the couple mixing new tricks with old.

"People complain when we don't do tricks they expect to see every time they come to see us, so we've included two oldies, my signature illusions as it were, but everything else is different," said Paul.

"And the great thing about a live show is that it's never the same twice because the audience is different each night."

Despite being in showbiz for over 40 years and hosting 'The Paul Daniels Magic Show' from 1979 to 1994, not every trick has gone to plan for Paul, but he and his wife have a strategy to overcome the occasional error.

"When I'm creating a show, I plan the routines and then I plan the get-outs: so if anything goes wrong, I'm ready" Paul said.

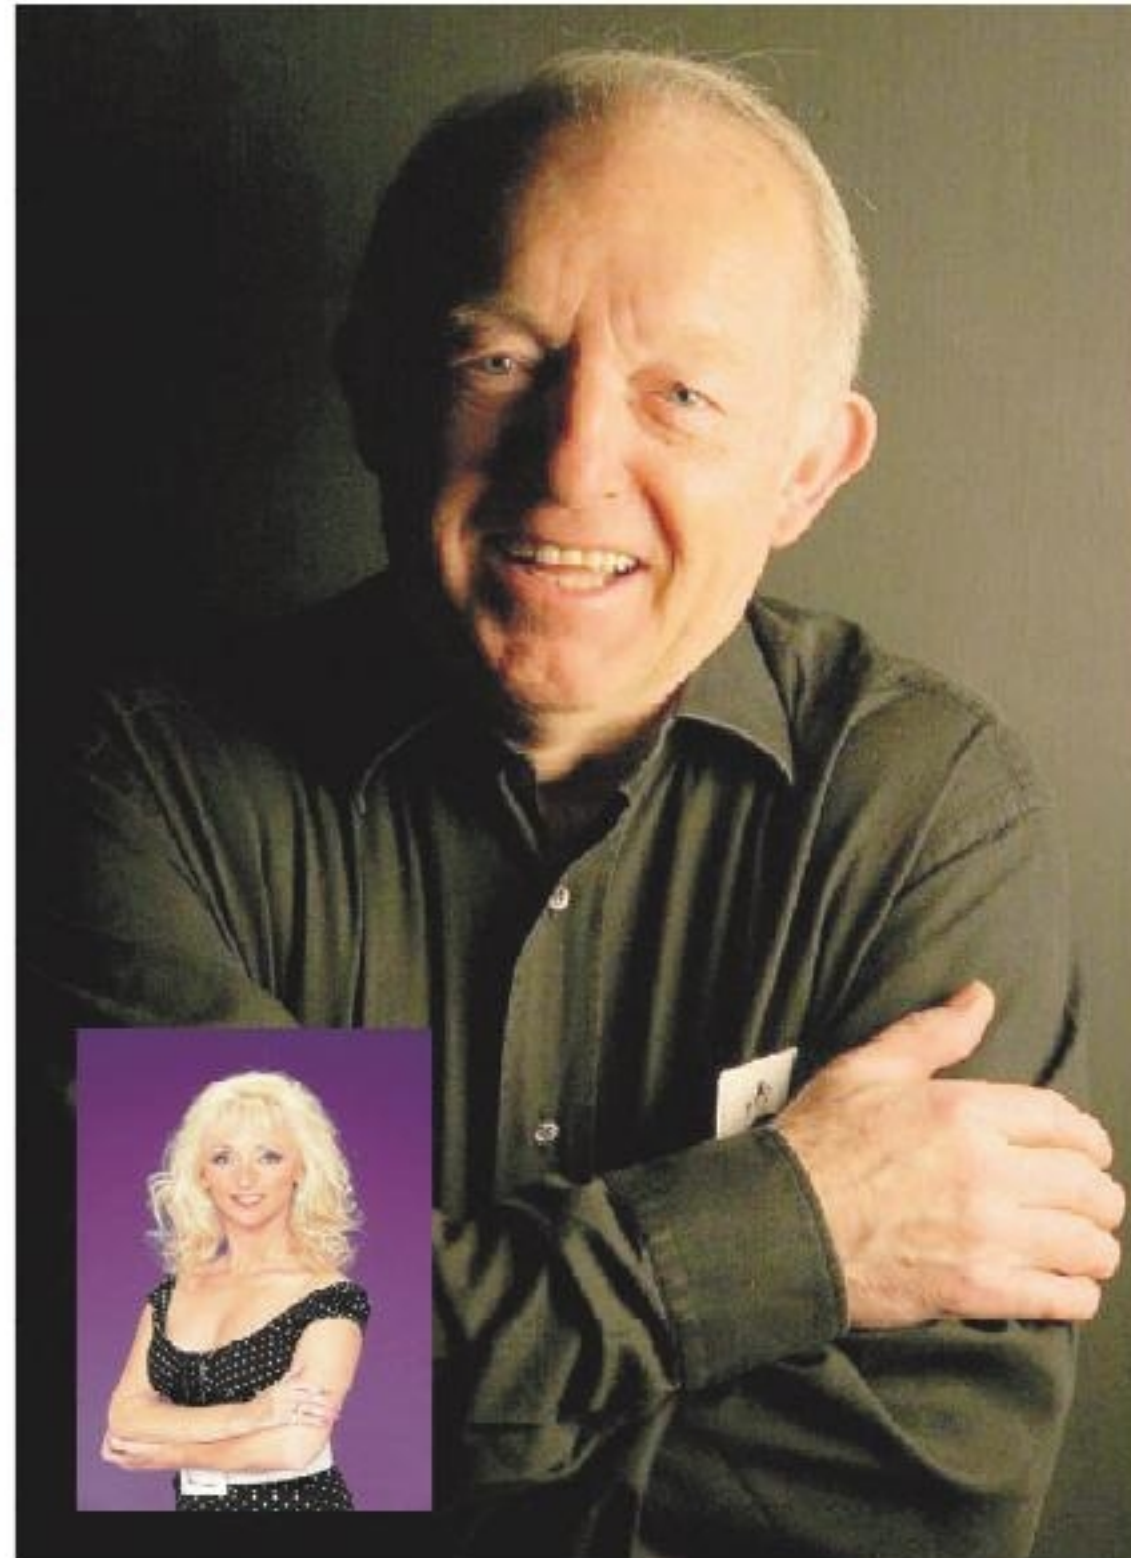

Debbie added: "It rarely happens that anything goes wrong but when it has - someone fainted in the front row once - Paul was completely unfazed and carried on cracking gags while he was being helped out."

The couple will travel across the country in the next few months for the tour.

"We love doing the shows but travelling can be a pain," says Paul.

"So we stay in nice hotels, eat lovely food, and explore an area when we possibly can."

Celebrating Holst's music

A PERFORMANCE of the music of British composer Gustav Holst, whose work influenced many other musicians when performed during the First World War, comes to Oxford's St John the Evangelist Church on Saturday.

Conducting the orchestra will be Janet Lincé, who is looking forward to performing in Oxford this weekend.

"I have been drawn to Holst's music ever since singing his 'Hymn of Jesus' in my teens," she said.

"I found that the composer really

By James Richings

jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

understands the human voice and his use of off-stage wordless chorus in his opera 'Savitri' is magical.

"It is a powerful and moving work and although the orchestra specified is tiny, it's hugely effective."

The programme in Oxford includes a rare fully-staged performance of 'Savitri' and a selection from his spiritual work 'Choral Hymns from the Rig Veda'.

During the concert, Janet will be conducting the Corona String, a string orchestra who were formed at the start of 2012.

Along with the Corona Strings will be the CHOROS chamber choir, a semi-professional chamber choir based in North Oxfordshire formed by Janet in 1993.

And Janet believes that the Iffley

Road church is the ideal venue for the event.

"St John's Church is the perfect venue for this work," she added.

"We'll be using the whole space to create a really special atmosphere and all the performers are very excited about this unique project."

It starts at 7.30pm.

For more information about the concert or to book tickets, go to the church's website at sje-oxford.org, or phone 01865 613502.

Funny profs

A SELECTION of Oxford's finest and funniest academics, researchers and experts take to the stage to show the lighter side of their work at the Jericho Tavern in Oxford next Wednesday.

The event starts at 8pm and finishes at 11pm, with tickets costing £5.50 per person. For more information, call the tavern on 01865 311775.

The recital will also feature a range of poetry from various authors.

Entry is free and runs from 12.30pm to 1.30pm.

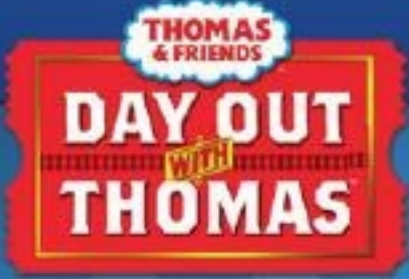

Will Wilde

TALENTED singer and harmonica player Will Wilde will be entertaining Oxfordshire at The Art Bar in Oxford this evening.

Regarded as one of the best blues musicians off all time, Wilde has been nominated for best Harmonic player at the British Blues Awards each year from 2010 to 2013.

It's Christmas.....!

WE ARE now at the end of September, with October in our sights, and the weather is starting to turn. More people are now wearing at least two layers, as the humidity of the summer is now beginning to leave us.

In accordance with the ever decreasing weather change, we will soon see the fake snow, the bright lights and the Santa hats all in the shopping windows.

It is incredible to think that Christmas is only three months away, and despite the majority of people living in this country not even thinking about the festive period, some people will already be panicking about what presents, decorations and food to purchase for the festive period.

Let's not beat around the bush, Christmas is an expensive time of the year. Purchasing presents for loved ones, colleagues, friends, buying new decorations, and some people might even go away for the holidays. It's that time of year where people are more willing to spend money to please others and themselves.

During this hectic period, you want to spend time with loved ones. You don't want to be thinking about work and you want to be looking forward to having a couple of weeks off, to spend with the people that you care about the most. It's the most wonderful time of the year, where people are brought closer together.

However, when Christmas draws closer, big decisions are made. Do you get a real or a fake tree? Should you get new ornaments for the living room? Do you think it is time to get some exterior lights to compete with the neighbors?

It's a very stressful and difficult period for everyone who is planning a great Christmas, as there are many things to think about before 25 December.

Let's just say that you'll have your family over for Christmas this year. This means that there will be more children running about the house, more mouths to feed and more presents to buy. This means buying more wrapping paper, more ribbons, more name tags and more stockings, which means that you'll need a certain amount of money, to purchase all of these items.

So if you want Christmas 2014 to be an absolute stunner, but you're already pulling your hair out as you don't want to break the bank and you don't even know where to start, then don't panic; because we spoke to a few businesses within Basingstoke to see how they can help you with your Christmas preparations.

James Richings

The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society

CHRISTMAS is always a glamorous occasion when The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society get together! However, they do usually dress in a little more than tinsel! But this is the fun that both dramatic societies have when producing shows. This picture is from a recent production of Calendar Girls, staged by the Henley Players, which raised over £1000 for the Lymphoma Research Charity, the dreadful disease that was centre of the show's plot. However many of the ladies belong to both Societies and are always game for a laugh!

If you are looking for a worthwhile hobby, there is always something to do and lots of opportunity to get on stage. The Henley Players tend to produce plays, whilst the Operatic Society - you guessed it - produce musicals. So there is something for everyone. If you do not want to get on stage, but would still like to be involved, then there are a myriad of tasks such as costume, make up, props and stage hands, set building and so on - never a dull moment!

There is also a great deal of diversity in the productions that both societies mount at The Kenton Theatre in Henley. This Autumn sees the Players staging Accrington Pals - a tribute to the young men who died in WW1, whilst Henley Operatic are producing The Sound of Music - in fact, the two ladies in the front row are both playing nuns! - Now that is diverse!

Tickets for either of these productions are available from www.kentontheatre.co.uk. If you are interested in joining either of these societies, please contact the membership secretaries below: (And we promise you can keep your clothes on!)

The Henley Players: Jenny Haywood - jenifer.haywood@btinternet.co.uk

Accrington Pals runs from 15 - 18 October

Henley Operatic (HAODS) - Ann Jenkin - ashirleyj21@gmail.com

The Sound of Music runs from 30 October - 8 November

A Touch Of Pine offer you a few Christmas Dining Furniture suggestions

A SUMPTUOUS roast turkey with all the trimmings, countless glasses of mulled wine and a far too generous serving of Christmas pudding – some things are just quintessentially Christmas.

The same could be said for our incredible range of stunning oak and pine dining room tables, all of which are available in a variety of shapes, sizes and finishes.

Whether you're hosting an intimate Christmas gathering or lavish family affair this December, we will have the perfect dining table delivered straight to your door before you've even had a chance to put your tree up!

We are great believers that Christmas isn't Christmas if you can't get the whole family in one place, ready to enjoy a glorious Christmas dinner together.

This is exactly why we have carefully selected a dining range that is sure to fit right in to each and every home. From a traditional rectangular pine table, to an oval extending oak dining room table, we are guaranteed to have a beautiful table for you; no matter how many guests you need to squeeze round it.

Once we've delivered your chosen furniture, the Christmas decorating is up to you! We love nothing better than getting into the Christmas spirit from the start of December, so why not go all out this year and get your tinsel out early?

To complete your dining room just in time for Christmas, don't forget that we also offer an extensive range of sideboards, dressers and wine racks that are great for dining rooms and living rooms alike.

It's the extra touches like dresser units and blanket boxes that make a room welcoming, but it's the people in it that really make the occasion, so make your dining space a room where some incredible memories are made this year.

Pop in and see us to find out for yourself how we can get your home looking its best this Christmas – you'd be crackers not!

HOOK Norton Brewery is a traditional, family owned business in the heart of the Cotswolds. We have been brewing delicious, handcrafted beers since 1849. Call in to our visitor centre (details in the advert below) for unique and interesting Christmas gifts and including brewery tours gift vouchers.

Have a go at the really easy 'Twelve 12 Days Christmas Cake' using our lovely ale. Twelve Days is a dark brown strong beer, finely balanced, with a strong malt and nutty flavour with a pleasant sweetness. A perfect partnership with the fruits, spices and dark sugar.

875g mixed fruit
2 5 0 m l

Twelve Days beer (leaving the other half of the bottle to enjoy!)

225g butter
225g dark brown muscovado sugar
1 tablespoon black treacle
4 large eggs, lightly beaten
225g plain flour
2 teaspoons mixed spice

Day One

• Steep the mixed fruit in Twelve Days for at least 24 hours

Day Two

• Preheat the oven to 180C/350F/Gas Mark 4

• Grease and line 20cm round cake tin
• Cream the butter and sugar together, beat in the treacle and then slowly fold in eggs, flour and spice, a little at a time until thoroughly mixed together.

• Stir in the plump ale steeped fruits and put into tin

• Place in the oven for one hour, reducing the temperature to 120C/250F/Gas Mark 1/2 for a further 2 hours or until a skewer inserted into the centre comes out cleanly.

• Because of the quantity of liquid used in making this cake, it may take a little longer to cook, but don't worry, this is perfectly normal

• Leave the cake in the tin to become cold, then turn it out

It's Christmas....!

It wouldn't be Christmas without Thomas at Didcot railway Centre!

NOW recognized as being one of the leading centers of its type, the Didcot Railway Centre first opened as a visitor attraction in 1967.

The Railway Centre recreates the golden age of the Great Western Railway with a fine collection of over 20 steam locomotives, many housed in the original engine shed, and a collection of passenger coaches and freight wagons.

December (along with the last weekend of November) at Didcot Railway Centre means one thing: A day out with Thomas to meet Father Christmas!

The centre is the only heritage railway in the UK to offer this unique combination, whereby, families get to ride behind the famous blue engine to meet Father Christmas in his grotto, with each child receiving an age appropriate gift from Father Christmas.

Visitors also get to meet the Fat Controller, Sir Topham Hatt, and take part in Thomas themed activities in the imagination station.

This is available every Saturday and Sunday from 29th November to 21st December, from 9:30am - 4:00pm.

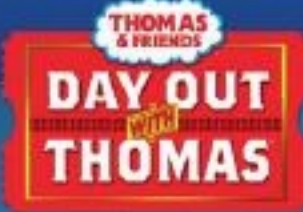

All the prices are available on our website www.didcotrailwaycentre.org.uk. Visitors can pay at the gate on the day, however, advance booking is recommended, at www.dayoutwiththomas.co.uk/didcot

For further details, call 01235 817200 or refer to the DRC website, www.didcotrailwaycentre.org.uk.

Ford collects top honours at What Car? magazine's annual awards for second-hand motors

Focus is 'Best Used Car' of 2014

THE Ford Focus has been named as What Car? magazine's Best Used Car of the Year – the second time in three years the American car manufacturer has claimed the award.

It was praised for its balance of performance, equipment and value, with second-hand examples of the current generation model selling for around £8,000.

As well as taking home the main award, the Focus was also named as the Best Used Family Car for the fourth time in eight years.

The Focus' success comes after the Ford Fiesta took the honours in 2012, although the Fiesta still picked up the award for Best Used Small Car this year.

What Car? editor Jim Holder said: "The Ford Focus is our Used Car of the Year because of the choice offered to buyers."

"There are many Focus cars in numerous specifications and different ages to choose from."

Jim continued: "You can buy a current specification Focus within a reasonable budget and get a driver's car with great handling, bringing a lot of refinement and delivering great value for money."

Ford's showing in this year's awards continues a trend of success for the company in the awards, having picked up at least one honour in the last seven years.

Mark Ovenden, chairman and managing director of Ford of Britain, was delighted with the awards.

He said: "We thank What Car? for endorsing Ford's great range with its Used Car Awards."

"Ford's unique combination of style, value and remarkable technologies, typified by the EcoBoost engine, is as appealing to used car buyers as in the new car market."

He added: "This is why Focus and Fiesta continue to delight so many customers across all sectors of the market."

"A relationship built to last. Your Ford is still running strong after 4+ years. We'll keep it that way."

Welsh urged to cut out their mistakes

JUSTIN Burnell is urging London Welsh to cut out the mistakes as they sunk to a 46-8 defeat to Sale Sharks in the Aviva Premiership last Saturday.

The Exiles are bottom of the table after conceding 151 points in their opening three games, but for 65 minutes against Sale it was looking positive.

Trailing the Sharks by 10 points with 15 minutes remaining after Nic Reynolds' try, Welsh had hope of taking points away from the AJ Bell Stadium.

However, on 65 minutes Welsh gifted Sale a scrum five metres from the tryline and Tom Arscott crossed for what turned out to be a decisive score.

Burnell's side went on to concede three further tries in the last four minutes.

"You've got to be realistic, the scoreline doesn't lie," said Burnell.

"It's all very well playing for 65 minutes but you need to be playing for 80 minutes, and that's what we've got to do.

"We were still in it; we made some mistakes in crucial areas early on and then it gets to a decisive moment.

"You have a crucial lapse in concentration, we lose possession and in all fairness they capitalised.

"Once they're on the front foot their tails are up and the floodgates opened."

Despite Arncott's try, Welsh continued to take the fight to sale until a crazy final four minutes when the Sale winger added another while Tom Brady and Luke McLean also went over.

Burnell added: "The hardest part was to be there or thereabouts and see an improvement up until about 65 minutes, but then straight away, the same old story, people just dropping off.

"The individual errors were the biggest disappointment and at this level, the Aviva Premiership, you make a mistake you will be punished.

"I thought we fought back and got into the right zones, we just didn't capitalise on it and that's the biggest learning curve."

He added: "You've got to learn from it continuously."

Welsh are next in action tomorrow night when they welcome Gloucester Rugby to the Kassam Stadium for a 7.45pm kick-off.

City's run comes to an end after heavy defeat

OXFORD City's three-match winning run came to an abrupt end last Saturday as they were beaten 4-0 by Guiseley.

Adam Boyes (2) and own goals from Paul Stonehouse and Alejandro-Adrian Santiago condemned City to a third defeat of the season.

However, Justin Merritt's side still sit fifth in the Vanarama Conference North after 11 games.

City started the match positively against Guiseley last weekend, but it was the hosts who got the upper hand as Boyes notched a quick-fire brace to dampen the visitors' spirits.

And City were soon three down as Stonehouse turned Josh Wilson's cross into his own net.

However, Merritt's side went close to scoring shortly after as Claudio Hoban and Kynan Isaac both hit the woodwork.

Guiseley had a number of chances to extend their lead further and they did so with 12 minutes remaining as Santiago put into his net following Oli Johnson's free-kick.

City take a break from the league this weekend as they make the trip to Shortwood United in the second qualifying round of the FA Cup.

Harries' five tries helps A squad to first victory

JAMIE Harries scored five tries as London Welsh A thumped Harlequins 40-5 in the Aviva A League on Monday night.

The Exiles were in search of their first win after defeats to Exeter Braves and London Irish and it came in some style.

Quins were intent on blowing the Exiles away from the outset but after weathering the storm, flanker Harries repeatedly reaped the benefit of playing behind a dominant front five.

Fly-half Will Robinson kicked five conversions and also crossed the whitewash as Welsh exerted their dominance.

The Exiles' next Aviva A League match is against Wasps on October 13.

Boss calls for strikers to be more clinical

Yet another top-five result for Pepperell

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell continued his scintillating form on the European Tour last week, finishing tied for fourth in the Welsh Open at Celtic Manor.

The 23-year-old has now finished in the top five in four of his last five tournaments.

And at Celtic Manor last weekend he was only two shots behind winner Joost Luiten.

Pepperell started well, carding a three-under-par 68 before a 74 on Friday put him back in the standings.

However, it was to be only a minor setback as an eight-under-par 63 put him back in contention for the final day.

On Sunday, Pepperell shot a 65 – one of the best rounds of the day – to leave him 12-under-par, but it was not quite enough for the 23-year-old to claim his first tour title.

Pepperell is now at a career high 171 in the world golf rankings and is 55th in the Race To Dubai money list.

The 23-year-old earned €82,250.72 from last weekend, adding to the €192,400 he has won in prize money over the last month.

Comeback leads to draw

OXFORD United Women came back from two goals down to snatch a 2-2 draw against Durham on Sunday to move off the bottom of the Women's Super League.

United had the best of the early chances at Northcourt Road, but it was Durham's Jemma Purfield who scored first after 30 minutes.

The hosts responded as Lauren Allison broke quickly on the right-hand side to square the ball to Laura Low, but her strike clattered the post.

After the break Durham doubled their advantage as Beth Hepple curled a free-kick into the top corner.

But the U's responded immediately as Kayleigh Hines flicked on Jemma-Connors-Iommi's free-kick at the near post to reduce the deficit.

And they equalised 15 minutes from the end from an Allison penalty, which came about after Laura Low had been pulled down in the box.

It means that United are unbeaten in their last three games, and moved ahead of London Bees to ninth in the standings – one point ahead of their bottom-placed rivals.

They return to action on Sunday as they make the trip to face Reading FC Women.

MICHAEL Appleton is calling on his strikers to be more clinical in front of goal following Oxford United's 0-0 draw at home to Stevenage last Saturday.

United's unbeaten run in Sky Bet League Two was extended to five games as a result, but a dominant performance should have heralded the three points.

Top scorer Danny Hylton had United's best chances and on another day he would have added to his seven goals so far this season.

On six minutes he was brilliantly denied by Chris Day before he blazed wide from 10 yards in the second half and then delayed pulling the trigger after rounding the Stevenage keeper with seven minutes remaining.

Appleton said: "We need to be a little more clinical in our finishing but ultimately the next best thing is a point and we move on."

"There is a bit of belief in the team at the minute and I think we just need to be a bit more cuter."

"A couple of times we tried to be a little too clever in our finishing instead of just putting our foot through it."

He continued: "We wanted to beat an extra man instead of getting a shot off but it is very difficult to be critical of the performance."

Appleton admitted he kept Hylton on the pitch due to his goalscoring form and is backing the frontman to add many more to his tally this season.

"We just thought he might have a goal in him with the confidence he has got at the minute but he just got too cute and lost the opportunity to score," said

Appleton.

"But he will score many goals for us this season and I'm sure the next time he gets himself in that position he will make the right decision."

"They are going to score goals one day and miss opportunities the next and we move on."

United are third from bottom in the table with seven points from nine games and make the trip to Luton Town on Saturday.

The Hatters are 13th in the table and unbeaten in their last three, including last weekend's 1-0 win over Cambridge United.

Smith looks to build upon San Marino result at Aragon on Sunday

BRADLEY Smith is hoping to build on the seventh place finish he achieved in San Marino a fortnight ago as MotoGP heads to the Spanish circuit of Aragon this weekend.

With five rounds remaining, the Oxford-born rider is hoping to make ground in the championship and to secure his first top-five finish since the race in Austin back in April.

The 23-year-old, who is 10th in the rider standings, will have to battle it out with the likes of Ducati's Andrea Dovizioso and teammate Pol Espargaro for fifth.

And after Factory Yamaha pairing Valentino Rossi and Jorge Lorenzo locked out the top spots on the podium in Misano, Smith is hoping he can learn from the best as he looks to lift his Yamaha Tech3 bike up the standings.

"I really like Aragon and I believe there are specific corners that will emphasise our problems and so provide a real test to sort out those issues," said Smith.

"We are only a few refinements from where we need to be."

"Having the data from the first and second finishers in Misano really should enable us to sort it out."

"If we can't learn from the best bikes and riders in the world there is an issue."

"It was a solid points scoring seventh in Misano and we can build from that with the information we have available."

Ackling disappointed after Freds concede late goal

WANTAGE Town manager Gary Ackling says his side need to be more "streetwise" after conceding another late goal to draw 2-2 with Fleet Town last Saturday.

Jimmy Deabill and Tom Melledew cancelled out Rob

Carr's opener but Brett Stanley curled home a free-kick in the last minute to earn Fleet a point.

The Alfredians are 18th in the Division One South and West standings after their opening nine matches in the league and should have claimed their third win of the season last weekend.

Ackling said: "It seems to be the story of our season and a recurring theme."

He continued: "It is just an inability to hold onto a lead and see games out."

"We just need to get a little streetwise."

"The trouble is we are too gung-ho and we need to be a little more savvy and know when to defend a lead."

Wantage travel to Mangots-field United on Saturday but will be without Lee Henderson who has returned to parent club Oxford City.

Stuart Cattell and Ritchie Guy are still absent but Jack Smith (thigh) and Carl Roberts (suspended) return.

'Quins win

OXFORD Harlequins returned to winning ways as they triumphed over Chard 32-0 at home in the National League Three South West on Saturday.

But it was a tough weekend for Grove RFC, who narrowly lost 28-26 to Trowbridge in the South West One East.

There was better luck for Witney in the same division, as they beat Buckingham 27-15.

All three return to action on Saturday as 'Quins travel to Bracknell, Grove host Windsor and Witney visit Reading.

First for Stars

OXFORD City Stars got their first win of the season in the National Ice Hockey League One on Sunday with a 6-5 win against Wightlink Raiders.

A brace from Josh Oliver and goals from Jamie Newton, James Pentecost, Darren Elliott and Dax Hedges helped Stars claim a narrow victory.

The result moves Stars off the foot of the table into ninth position after their opening three fixtures.

Plato gears up

JASON Plato returns to action in the British Touring Car Championship this weekend, as the series heads to Silverstone.

Plato sits second in the championship standings but 55 points behind Colin Turkington, although Plato did win two of the three races at the Northamptonshire circuit last year.

"We'll be there or thereabouts at Silverstone – we should be on the front row," said Plato.

But the Oxford-born racer played down his chances of challenging for the title after the previous race at Rockingham, bemoaning the advantage Turkington's BMW had over the rest of the field.

The BTCC season finale takes place at Brands Hatch on October 12.

Maldonado seconds away from top 10 in Singapore Grand Prix

LOTUS F1 FALL SHORT AGAIN

• Pastor Maldonado's 12th place matched his best result of the season so far (Picture courtesy of Lotus F1)

IT WAS another frustrating day for Lotus F1 as both drivers once again finished outside the points in Sunday's Singapore Grand Prix.

Pastor Maldonado came 12th to match his best result of the season, while team-mate Romain Grosjean came home just behind in 13th.

Maldonado had managed to jump up to 10th during the safety car period half-way through the race as those around him stopped for new tyres.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

But as his own rubber degraded, Maldonado found himself losing time to the drivers behind him, and eventually dropped outside the points.

Despite that, he was less than five seconds behind Kevin Magnussen's McLaren in 10th place at the end.

"We got the maximum out of our performance and we had a strong consistent race," said Maldonado.

"It was a tough race, especially the last 10 laps where the tyres needed a lot of managing, but I think we were able to do a great race."

Grosjean had qualified ahead of his team-mate, but lost out to the Venezuelan at the safety car restart.

He said: "Things had been looking alright until the safety car, we were fighting for points.

"Unfortunately I tried to attack too hard on the restart.

"I wanted to give it everything and with cold tyres after a slow safety car period, it was just too much once at the corner.

"From then on, I couldn't pass back up through the field to get points."

Elsewhere, Leaffield-based Caterham beat rivals Marussia for the second successive race, as Marcus Ericsson came home in 15th-place.

Marussia's Jules Bianchi was battling with Ericsson in the closing laps, but the Swede was able to hold off the challenge in one of his best performances of the year so far.

But there was disappointment for his team-mate Kamui Kobayashi however, whose car broke down with a power unit failure before the race had even begun.

The next race takes place at the Japanese circuit of Suzuka on October 5.
